[COMMUNICATED. BY-GONE DAYS. My heart goes back to the good time, when

We were a happy band of ten, E'er time and space, had brought about Changes sad, within and out. When life was young, and light, and free, Joyous and happy, as life could be; When we knew no care, and felt no pain-

Danced in the sunshine, played in the rain. Chased the butterflies, gathered flowers, And hunted birds nests in the bowers-Roamed the fields, the long summer day, Or gathered nests where the wild winds play. And all our hearts were merry and light, As we met around the hearth at night-And a father and mother looked on, and then Blessed their happy band of ten.

But where is now, that band of ten, That made life all so joyous then; One is sleeping beneath the sod, His pure young soul gone home to God; And thousands of miles away is one, In the far off land of the setting sun; Others are scattered here and there, Some near by, and some afar.

Of all that gay and cheerful band, That gathered at the old Homeland, But three now meet at twilight gray, As the shadows chase the closing day; But three! and, now, it seems all love, As we gather round the old hearth-stone-But blessed be tiod, our parents still, Their places by the fire side fill.

Yes, we are scattered wide and far, With brows, all shadowed o'er with care; And tears, since then, flowed down our cheeks, Such tears as childhood never weeps; And the tones, so joyous, light, and free, Have lost their ring of gladsome glee-And soon before our God will stand, O may it be, an unbroken band. The man TALUABLE NEW BOOKS.-The Still Hour, was furious, and declared his purpose to give or Communion with God, by Austin Phelps, John a piece of his mind when he saw him -he would wither him. Happening to see John one day at Downing's, standing at the bar, getting outside of a dozen New York bays, he boldly confronted the Prince, and, being a small man, looked up at him fiercely and burst out, "Mr. Van Buren, is there any client so low and mean, or any case so nasty, that you won't undertake to defend him in it?" "I don't know," said John, stopping uthor of "Goodly Cedars," the "Gleaners," &c., to put away another oyster, then bending The Book of all Religions, in Europe and Amer- down and confidentially drawing out his renly in the little man's ear. LIFE'S HAPPIEST PERIOD.—Kingsley gives his evidence on this disputed point. He thus ever experienced like a child's midsummer A Ladder to Learning, for Little Climbers, by holyday. The time, I mean, when two or three of us used to go away up the brook, and take our dinners with us, and come home at night tired, dirty, happy, scratched beyond recognition, with a great nosegay, three little trout, and one shoe, the other having been Messianic Prophecy and the Life of Christ, by Wm.
